STATE NEWS.

Caleb Wall, an Alderman of Milwaukee writes to the Sentinel that it is no use for citizens to ask him to abate nuisances as long as the Mayor violates the laws himself in that respect. Wall says he has repeatedly called upon the Mayor to abate nuisances on his own property which "his honor" refused to do. A nice officer truly.

The Milwaukee Sentinel says that on Sunday last a southern gentleman who owns a large plantation in Arkansas, landed here from the Grand Haven boat, and was picked up by an officer for being drunk. He was taken to the Station House, and in a few hours he had an attack of delirium tremens. He had been on a spree for several weeks. At Toronto he was robbed of $400 in gold. He had been a man of wealth and station before the rebellion, having held the position of Judge. The rebellion had laid waste his property, and he was on his way south to look after it. At this place he was obliged to pay his watch to raise funds to enable him to continue his journey. Lead ore in the Southwestern portion of the State sells at a very high figure now. The Dodgeville Chronicle says $95 a thousand has been paid there. The Shullsburg Local says mineral is selling at $100 a thousand there. The Galena Gazette speaks of a sale in Potosi at $105. Miners get $2 a day and talk of asking for $2.50. Millions of pounds of the ore have been sold in years past for less than one-tenth of this. A young white boy about fourteen was discovered in Milwaukee recently with some Indians. The Indians had painted his face in their own unique and barbarous style, and he looked as savage as they did. An officer arrested him and made a complaint of vagrancy against him. In Court, on Saturday morning, he stated that he came to this city from Wautoma about a month since, as near as he could recollect; he had no home; he had neither father nor mother; he had tried to get a place to work but could find none, and consequently had to beg. The Judge told him he found a home for him with a farmer and that he would hold the sentence over him for his good behavior. The boy left the court room in charge of an officer, well pleased at this idea of finding a home.

Marshall Denton, a conductor on the Racine & Mississippi Railroad, was killed by being run over on Friday last. The Broadhead Independent says that Mr. Hanson, of that place, who left for Idaho on the 7th of March, last, has returned satisfied to make Wisconsin his home, and let others dig in the Idaho gulches for gold. He represents that territory as full of immigrants, with a very poor prospect of success to far the greater portion of them, with almost a certainty of short supplies of provisions the coming winter.

The Whitewater Register says a festival there in honor of the returned veterans of the 4th regiment went off finely, and yielded $75 to the funds of the Soldier's Aid Society. Walworth county's quota under "the last call" is 503. The towns have 120 excess and 22 deficiency, leaving 544 men to raise. Whitewater is said to be likely to raise her quota. The Fond du Lac Press says the "Sawberry" crop up that way is very short this season. The total earnings of the Northwestern road at Fond du Lac station, for July, are $29,962.13. The Bipon Commonwealth says the barn of Mr. J. J. Smith, two miles from town, was struck by lightning and entirely consumed with its contents, including most of this year's crop, belonging to Mr. Truxell, who rented the farm. Five boys were sleeping in the barn, one of whom was so badly stunned that he had to be carried out. There were two more on the barn doubtless so concentrated as to be worse than none.

The Spartan Herald says that volunteers are making efforts to fill their quotas by volunteering. The Madison Patriot says: "Up to Saturday night sixty-five citizens of Madison have been exempted from the training draft by Capt. Putnam, at Jamesville; and about one hundred and sixty-five other citizens who applied, didn't get exempt. Hurrah for the exemptions." The Madison Journal says, P. L. Spooner, Esq., has resigned his position as Supreme Court Reporter, and that Mr. O. M. Conover has been appointed his successor. Six more substitutes escaped from Camp Randall on Friday night last. Two were subsequently retaken. The others, having pocketed their bounty money, have probably gone to some other State to enlist a second time.

A new jail worth $3,500, is about to be constructed in Juneau county and is to be finished by January 1st. The Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod of this State are building a Theological Seminary and College at Watertown. Under the head of Economy, the Racine Advocate says: "We saw a man the other morning with both arms full of green corn. On being asked what he was going to do with so much green corn, he replied, that he was economizing, and in explanation, said: 'If my children eat two or three ears of this corn, the effect of it is to make their appetite so poor for the next four or five days that I save much in the line of provision.'"

The Fond du Lac Press appears in a new dress, from the foundry of J. A. Noonan, at Milwaukee. It is scarcely necessary to add, it makes a very neat appearance.

The Great Eastern cost $5,000,000. Nothing remains after sale of her, for shareholders, original or preferential!

LECTURE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SOLDIER'S AID SOCIETY.

We learn that S. M. Howlett, Esq., who is known as an eloquent lecturer, is to speak in this city on the 24th inst., in behalf of the Soldier's Aid Society. He drew immensely on a previous visit, and will probably have a crowded house this time.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mr. Wm. Foster, living about three miles east of this city, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon, by being caught in the tumbling rod of a threshing machine. His chest, neck and side were badly injured, but no bones were broken. So great was the resistance offered to the machinery by the body of the unfortunate man, that the horses on the machine were brought to a stand still. The wonder is that he was not instantly killed.

At a meeting of the officers of the 2d Wis. Vol. Cavalry.

The following resolutions were presented by Capt. DeForest, and agreed upon, relative to the death of Dr. C. G. Pease:

Resolved, That the disposition of provisions our much esteemed brother officer, Surgeon Clark C. Pease, has been taken from us, therefore

Resolved, That we have all found Major Pease an officer devoted and faithful, a gentleman, noble and a Christian without reproach.

Resolved, That from the organization of the regiment until the death of Major Pease we have enjoyed a zealous and uninterfering friendship together.

Resolved, That we tender to our friend, Mrs. C. G. Pease, our unfeigned sympathy in her bereavement, and suggest the proposition that an appropriate and consistent Christian service be given to her friends.

FROM SYRACUSE.

Syracuse, August 18.—There were two mass meetings here to-day, one on Franklin Street and the other in the rear of the Syracuse House. The largest one was on Franklin Street. Seymour Vallandigham and Fernando Wood were announced as speakers there. In response to loud and enthusiastic calls, Mr. Vallandigham stepped forward and addressed the multitude for an hour or more, holding the closest attention except when interrupted by applause. He said he was not here to paralyze his private griefs, nor to speak of what he had done. He would only say that time has already vindicated almost to the utmost extent, his views regarding national affairs. They are no longer popular, they are becoming more general.

It was not the purpose of this Convention to sow the seeds of discord in the Democratic ranks, such was no part of his mission. A delegate chosen unanimously to represent his constituency at Chicago, he would be false to them, to the interest of his party and his country were he to lend himself to such an object. He would go there with the single purpose of aiding in bringing about the nomination of a sound patriotic platform and harmonious among the Democrats and Conservatives of the country. There is now but one question before the country, namely war or peace. He assumed that it is the duty of all who love their country that first her liberties shall be made secure and then her material prosperity restored. There were some who believed that these objects could be best secured by war, while a great mass of the democracy held that they could be obtained only through a peace. A majority determined to try war and we were obliged to submit. Had he possessed power not one drop of blood would have been shed. There would have been no marshalling of hosts, no battle with cannon, no mighty debt. The President had had all the men and money he demanded. Never was there such an example of submission by a people, and no inglorious peace. The constitutionality of the power conceded, that and audacious usurpation could take from the people, and what is the result? The Union restored? No! A single state brought back? No! Is the constitution maintained or observed? No! Are our liberties respected? No! Have we had a free press, free assemblies, the writ of habeas corpus, or arrests by due process of law? No! How is it in a National point of view; a debt of nearly $4,000,000,000; a currency worth about 25 cents on the dollar, which two months ago was worth 100 per cent. more than it is now, and that two months hence will be worth 100 per cent. less. Ruin is impending and now in the 4th year what better is the prospect of success.

We failed in 1851 and 1852, not for want of courage, but for no braver men ever went to battle. The campaign of 1853 opened with more auspicious circumstances, we were told that the rebellion would be speedily crushed out by the force of arms, but the end of the year found us but little advanced. The campaign of 1854 opened with the largest armies the war had yet seen. These armies were composed largely of 3 years' veterans, and were concentrated for attack upon two or three vital points, and with what result? Let the record of carnage and blood answer.

Having tried war so long, shall we now try some other means. He was for trying conciliation and compromise. We have submitted to a necessity. You have tried your trial. You have tried war for four years, now let us try our plan. Our forefathers made our constitution in convention with pen, ink and paper, after a debate by free speech, coming from the hearts of freemen, and for 75 years we prospered under it. We had no differences during that period. More than once the Union had been endangered. The differences of 1820 were reconciled by compromise and by the same instrumentality, the calamity of dissolution was averted in 1850. Clay, Webster, Benton and Douglas were then living, and compromise prevailed through their advice and efforts. Sumner, Chase and Hall, the leaders of the party now in power, and which has brought the country so near to irreparable pain, were living too, and then, as now, were against compromise.

With a Republican form of government it is impossible to keep states together by force of arms, it is contrary to the spirit of free institutions; but if it were otherwise, the war has been utterly perverted by the Administration, and to-day it is not a war for the Union under the constitution, and the eyes of the people are being opened to this fact and hence it is that through all the states a cry for a cessation of hostilities is being loudly uttered.

He regarded the call for 300,000 more men, as a confession that the war is to be prolonged through 1865. We demand that the war shall be successful and conducted for the war for which alone it was inaugurated. In June last, in his Philadelphia speech, Mr. Lincoln said that this war would continue at least three years longer. Eject him, and you are committed to that policy. There is but one way of averting such a calamity, and that is

FOURTH WARD.

At a caucus held in the fourth Ward, pursuant to notice, Hamilton Richardson was chosen Chairman, and G. S. Strasberger Secretary. On motion the meeting proceeded to nominate delegates to the assembly Convention, by acclamation. J. B. Cassidy, Q. H. Williston, I. Rogers, W. Merrill, J. C. Jenkins, E. S. Barrows, D. Tracy, E. D. Coe, J. E. Powers, E. C. Smith were chosen as delegates. On motion delegates to the Senatorial Convention were elected as follows: Hamilton Richardson, S. Ford Jr., F. Barre, M. H. Curtis and J. B. Hyzer were nominated as said delegates.

Delegates to the County Convention are M. H. Curtis, G. S. Strasberger, J. B. Cassidy, L. B. Carlo and I. Rogers.

The delegates were authorized to appoint substitutes in case they could not attend. In the absence of any of the delegates or substitutes, the majority of the delegates present to cast the ballots.

It is estimated that the present population of New Orleans is larger than at any other time in its history, at this season. Small houses are nearly impossible of attainment, although a few more expensive ones are placed for rent. The city authorities estimate the present summer population of New Orleans at 175,000.

WHEN THE Copperheads ridicule Mr. Seward for declaring at the outset that the war would be over in thirty days, what have they to say of Mr. Toombs, who promised the traitors that he would call the roll of his slaves on Bunker Hill?

SOMETHING NEW.—Prof. Willard the celebrated Chiroprapist, who cures corns, bunions, diseased and ingrowing nails, is in our city. From what we hear, his operations are of a very scientific character. He performs a cure in from one to five minutes without inducing pain, blood, or resorting to the use of cutting instruments, forceps or chemicals, plasters, bandages or medicines of any kind. He comes recommended by eminent medical men and has submitted his system to several of our own physicians who are highly pleased with it. Dr. Corryell says: "I have been operated upon by Prof. Willard for a very troublesome ingrowing nail and am perfectly satisfied that his operations are efficient and scientific in every particular. The operation was without pain or blood and gave immediate relief."

His room is No. 32, Myers House.

Interests in the... when wild, make their nests in places to tally dark, as in the hollows of trees, are in the habit, when domesticated, of closing every aperture that can admit of light into their nests... Schreiber has just made an extraordinary discovery, which, while explaining in a beautiful manner this characteristic of the bee, adds another to the striking exemplification of that inscrutable power of instinct which so often transcends reason itself. Schreiber found that clear strained honey, which, kept in the dark, remained unchanged, when exposed to light gradually became crystalline and solidified, undergoing, through the influence of the light some molecular change, similar to that impressed upon the iodine of silver of the daguerrotype plate. The bee, therefore, in order to preserve in the fluid form the nutrient it stores up for its progeny, shuts it up in total darkness.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—In Albany New York, Judge Gould brought an action against Mrs. Stephens, who had been his tenant, to recover $5,000, the value of certain buildings she had erected on the premises, and which she had moved off before the expiration of her tenancy. Judge Gould argued his own case, but the Court decided against him, on the ground that a tenant has the right to put up necessary buildings for the benefit of trade, and to remove them, no injury having been done to the freeholder. It was a strange Judge that could think of recovering such a suit, as he must have known that "law is the perfection of reason."

RICH.—The La Crosse Democrat proposes Wm. B. Ogden, Esq., a candidate for Vice President on the "Democratic" ticket. This is the funniest joke we have yet seen in that decidedly original paper. We would vote for Mr. Ogden in any capacity, but the idea of coining him to put a single toe of his foot on anything that smells as fishy as a copperhead platform, is to those who know the man, too ridiculously absurd for contemplation. —Western R.
